Evening service, 7:30 o'clock. Sermon on the question, "Is There a Real Personal Devil? If so, Where Did He Come From? If Not, How Do We Account for Evil in the World?"

Epworth league at 6:45 p. m.

Prayer and Bible study Wednesday evening. Choir meeting Friday evening.

We expect to have a radio in the church for next Sunday evening. We are delighted to see so many strangers at church the last few Sundays.

CHRISTIAN

Legian Hall.

Bible school, 9:45. Interest is growing in each class as the time nears for the awarding of a fine Bible to each member who has a perfect attendance record for three months ending June 30. The Bible is one to be proud of, not a cheap one, so keep up that attendance record, folks.

Church services, 11 and 7:45.

The communion service is one service you should not miss, for the "disciples met together to break bread" to observe the Lord's death until he come again, after which there followed the preaching service.

"This do in remembrance of me." It is the one service of the day from which the Christian draws strength for his task. A hearty welcome for the stranger as well as to each member to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron A. Beckham of Moon street, Miss Del Lucia Lindman of Los Angeles, and George Strong plan to leave about July 3 for a two weeks' trip to Yosemite.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH?

By Dr. W. F. Thompson

The curse of man
Is his affliction;
And worst of all
Is drug addiction.

Who meddles with nettles will surely get stung.

"Have you called the doctor?"
"Yes, everything I can think of."

Whatever we may say about the devil, his emissaries deliver the goods.

Oh, have your swatter handy
And swat him in the eye,
For a pesky fly in April
Is a million in July.

We've always had a desire to go to Washington and study the red tape worm.

Take a foot of time, with a thousand years to the inch; man lives but one-sixteenth of an inch.

Who calls the doctor in the night?
My Mother.

Who gets the spoon and holds the light?
My Mother.

Who's the guy that pays the bill
For the doctor when I'm ill,
And says "Sonny, take this pill?"
My Daddy.

Duplication of effort and of expense is the chief argument against too many non-official and non-medical health propagandists.

Good health is the chief asset of any community, and municipalities that do not employ full time, well trained health officials are not developing their chief asset.

DETROIT WOMAN
SELLS BRICKS
FOR A LIVING

Miss Edith M. Warren.

"Selling is selling," says Miss Edith M. Warren, of Detroit, "whether it is life insurance, publicity, lingerie, bricks or any other commodity; so I fail to see anything particularly unique in the fact that I, a woman, am selling bricks." Besides being a successful brick salesman Miss Warren is president of the Detroit Business Woman's Club and a member of the board of directors of the Woman's City Club of that city.
